SINGLE-PIECE INFUSION

Our proprietary construction technology, Single-Piece Infusion®

We are the founders of this boatbuilding science.
The Single-Piece-Infusion (SPI) process puts us above the rest.
We do it every single day.

What does SPI mean?

It's a closed vacuum resin process that combines composite and foam structural stringers, engineered knitted fiberglass fabrics, and vinylester resins to make our hulls strong and perfectly weighted.

The crux of it: a one-piece, unsinkable experience is created.

"For boaters who like speed, there is the EdgeWater 370CC...tops out around 52 knots and cruises at 31 knots while getting 1.3 miles per gallon. She also has an air-conditioned cabin that sleeps two, with a TV, microwave, and refrigerator. Twin 200-quart fish boxes and two livewell (45 and 70 gallons) bolster her angling cred."
